

BIDS TO BE OPENED FOR NEW POSTOFFICE OCT. 30

NOTICE IS SENT TO POSTMASTER SWOPE

Specifications will be Forwarded
Here in a Few Days, the Communication Stated.

SITE WAS PURCHASED IN 1911

Proposals from Contractors will Include Stone Building and Mechanical Equipment.

Record of Postoffice.

December 10, 1909—Congressman Dixon introduces bill in House to appropriate $5,000 for purchase of site.

January 13, 1910—Seymour Merchants' Association passes resolution urging immediate purchase of lot.

June 25, 1910—Congressman Dixon introduced bill to appropriate $60,000 for purchase of site and erection of building.

July 29, 1910—Bids received by government for prospective sites.

June 20, 1911—Site purchased from Pfaffenberger heirs and J. A. Willey for $12,000.

July 31, 1914—Congressman Dixon introduces addition appropriation of $15,000 for stone building.

February 5, 1915—$28,000 of original appropriation voted available to begin building.

September 22, 1915—Treasury department gives notice that bids are to be received October 30.

Bids for the construction and equipment of the new postoffice building in this city will be opened by the treasury department at Washington at 3 o'clock on the afternoon of October 30, according to information coming to Postmaster Swope today. The postmaster is custodian of the site and the proposed new building by virtue of his office. The communication received from the government officials stated that the specifications would be sent here in a few days. The bids will be filed with the supervising architect.

The proposals for the new structure will include the building completed. This means that the contractors will bid on the mechanical equipment that will be installed in the new postoffice home. The specifications which will be forwarded at once, will give in detail the arrangement of the lock boxes and other equipment.

The announcement that bids are to be opened means that work on the building will begin in a short time. This is the last step to be taken by the government before actual work is started.

The proposed new postoffice has been a dream of local people for more than five years. Long before the first appropriation was made the building was talked about and the first step taken was an appropriation of $5,000 for the purchase of a site. This bill was introduced and supported by Congressman Dixon, who was asked by local people to give the matter his attention. That appropriation was voted December 10, 1909.

People here did not believe that the amount appropriated would be sufficient to purchase a desirable lot and accordingly the question was taken up by the Merchants' Association at a meeting on January 13, 1910. At that meeting a resolution was adopted asking that a larger appropriation be made and that the money be available at once.

On June 25, 1910 Congressman Dixon introduced a bill in the House, asking an appropriation of $60,000 for the purchase of a site and the

TWO OUT ON DELIBERATE CAMPAIGN OF DESTRUCTION

Fence at Home of Rudolph Buhner is Torn Down and Screen Door at Warner Home Ripped Off.

Apparently without cause two young men did considerable property damage on North Broadway about midnight. They were heard by several residents in that part of the city and so far as known, the men had no purpose in view except to destroy property belonging to others. The names of the violators are not definitely known.

The men walked along Broadway until they reached the property of Rudolph Buhner, on the corner of Broadway and Fourth. There they deliberately torn down the fence at the side of his lawn. After destroying the fence the men went over to the residence of Clarence Warner and jerked down the screen door and broke out a window glass with a rock. From there they trespassed upon other property, evidently looking for something to destroy. The damage was not known by the property owners until they awakened this morning. The matter has been reported to the police, it is said.

EXCITEMENT CAUSED BY EARLY MORNING FIRE

Three Barns at North Vernon Entirely Destroyed by Flames—
Business Section Threatened.

There was a riot of excitement at North Vernon early this morning when it was believed for a time that the business section of the town was threatened by fire. Flames were discovered in a barn close to the center of the city and spread rapidly to two adjoining barns.

The fire department worked hard to save the buildings but all three were consumed. For half an hour it seemed that the flames would not be confined to the barns and it was feared that the fire might get beyond control. Citizens aided the firemen in fighting the flames and the damage was not great.

American Authorities Waiting Until
all of the Archibald Letters Are Received.

Washington, Sept. 22—Until all papers taken from Capt. James F. J. Archibald are received the government will take no action against other persons involved in the incident which caused the requested recall of Austrian Ambassador Dumba. This was officially announced today at the state department. Only half a dozen of the Archibald letters have been received from Ambassador Page.

AUTOMOBILE CLUB ORGANIZED HERE

Aim of New Association is to Promote More Economical Expenditure of Road Funds.

URGE SUITABLE SIGNALS

T. S. Blish Elected President of Association—Automobile Owners
Asked to Co-operate.

Several of the automobile enthusiasts of Seymour met at the city building Tuesday evening and organized the Seymour Automobile Association with following officers: President, T. S. Blish; 1st Vice-President, Dr. G. G. Graessle; 2nd Vice-President, J. F. Shiel; 3rd Vice-President, F. J. Voss; Secretary and Treasurer, E. B. Bryan; Board of Governors, M. S. Blish, J. H. Andrews, Thos. Groub; State Executive Committee, T. S. Blish, Fred Everback.

The purpose of the organization is to promote better roads and more economical expenditure of road funds, and by working with the Indiana Automobile Association for improved legislation, state aid for construction and maintenance of main highways throughout Indiana, the establishment of a State highway department and other legislation needed by automobile owners; and also to get a lower rate of insurance of from 15 to 3 per cent, and protection from automobile thieves. All automobile owners are requested to aid in the movement, which is state wide, and by united effort, bring results.

The local organization is one of a state wide group of similar associations which are being formed in all parts of Indiana. The plan is to secure an organization in every county in the state. The state officers impart the information that we are getting under the present laws only about thirty per cent. efficiency in road building, and that the other seventy per cent. is wasted through careless methods or inefficient plans that are used by local officials. The association plans to secure a larger per cent. of the money expended on the roads done in a way that will give good roads all over Indiana.

Another purpose is either to eliminate grade crossings on railroads or to erect suitable warning signs so that tourists may know when dangerous approaches are made. An official tourist's guide will be furnished every member for all the roads in the state.

STRONG ADDRESS FOR S. S. WORKERS

Education, Service, Devotion Emphasized as Three Necessary Factors in Every Well Rounded Life.

NEW FORM OF MERGER SERVICE

Rev. E. LeRoy Dakin, of Logansport,
Tells of Plan Now Being Used Successfully in His Church.

The address by Rev. E. Leroy Dakin, of Logansport, at the First Baptist church Tuesday evening was greatly enjoyed by all who heard it. This address is one of a series of similar meetings which are held every three months under the auspices of the First Baptist Sunday School. The purpose of the meetings is to have an address which will give new enthusiasm and inspiration for Sunday School work by bringing information and practical methods of work to the Sunday School people of this city and community.

Mr. Dakin is pastor of the Baptist temple in Logansport and is doing an unusual bit of educational work. He has a general education committee for his church which correlates all the educational work of the organizations of the church into one systematic plan. In the Sunday School the work is graded and the classes are organized on the basis of a combined age and public school grading.

The purposes which their church and school seek to attain indicate what he believes every church and school should seek to attain in the christian life of the young people who come under their influence. These purposes are threefold. First: Educational, seeking to impart knowledge of the Bible and of related subjects so that the pupil who goes through the courses of study in the school will come up to manhood and womanhood with a rounded knowledge that will fit them for christian life. Second: Service, a job of work for every member of the church and school along lines for which he or she is best fitted, whether that work be teaching, singing, leading, social work or any other line that will bring the largest development to the individual. Third: Devotional, emphasis is laid on the devotional part of their service so that all who come in contact with the church and school grow into the idea that worship is a normal part of every life.

The church at Logansport is using a novel plan for the Sunday School and church services. On Sunday morning they do not have separate services. The whole church and school meet at ten o'clock. In this service there are three parts, a study period of forty minutes, an exposition period and a devotional period. These three parts do not follow each other in any fixed order. The program is purposely varied, so that those who attend do not know whether the lesson study period will be

The family had to double up to accommodate the young millionaire with a bed.

BULGARIA TO CAST LOT WITH ALLIES

This Appears Practically Certain
Today From Many Dispatches
That Are Received.

TROOPS MASSED ON BORDER

Police at Sofia Put Down Demonstrations by Bulgarians
Opposed to War.

By United Press.
London, Sept. 22—All Europe today was in a state of feverish excitement because of momentous developments in the Balkans. The reports that Bulgaria had ordered mobilization has been confirmed both from allies and pro-German sources. Other dispatches made it appear certain that Ferdinand has decided to cast his lot with the allies.

Bulgarian troops are massing along the Serbian frontier. All railroads have been taken over by the government. The streets of Sofia yesterday were lined with shouting crowds of war enthusiasts and the police promptly put down demonstrations by Bulgarians opposed to war.

All the messages regarding Bulgarian mobilization were withheld from publication until today. An accumulation of dispatches from Athens, Copenhagen, Rome and Geneva, increased the spirit of pessimism.

The Bulgarian premier's statement to a delegation of deputies that a mobilization resulting from a "quickly developing situation" strengthened the belief here that Bulgaria will strike when the Austro-Germans invade Serbia.

ENTIRE BLOCK OF STREET CAVES IN

New Subway Under Construction in New York Gives Way, Carrying Crowd With It.

ESTIMATES OF DEAD DIFFER

Street Car Carrying Persons to Work
Engulfed and is Flattened
Like a Pancake.

By United Press.
New York, Sept. 22—Two hundred persons were dropped 30 feet into a great gap in Seventh Avenue today when the new subway under construction caved in for an entire block between 23rd and 24th streets, carrying down a crowded Seventh Avenue surface car which was flattened out like a pancake.

The cavein followed a dynamite blast.

Estimates of the dead and injured differed greatly because of the confusion and ranged anywhere from four dead to twenty-five. There were six known dead and two hundred injured this afternoon.

A big brewery truck went down in the crash. Many persons were hurled from the sidewalks and tumbled into the great trench and everyone who was in the street itself was engulfed.

The street car was jammed with persons going to work. Perhaps half of the passengers were women. Enormous crowds congregated in the street but police placed barriers at once.

Another section of the new subway, half a block from the portion that collapsed, began to settle as the crowd gathered. The police rushed the big throng with their clubs and drove them out of danger.

COUNTY COMMISSIONER IS CALLED TO STAND

Kitley Testifies Inspectors Were Appointed From List Named by Bell.

By United Press.
Indianapolis, September 22.—John Kitley, county commissioner, who testified for the state to-day in the trial of Mayor Bell on election conspiracy charges, said that Mayor Bell and Thomas Taggart came to his home and asked that they be allowed to submit a list of proposed election inspectors.

Kitley said Bell, who did most of the talking, said it was not fair to let Commissioner Kervan choose the inspectors for Kervan was "sore."

"All we want is fair inspectors," Kitley said Bell told him. The witness said Kervan told him that in Bell's list of proposed inspectors were many city hall employees.

The state did not seem pleased with Kitley's testimony. Prosecutor Rucker said in this opening statement "that Bell and Taggart got down on their knees and begged Kitley."

The state established through Kitley that the inspectors finally were appointed from the list presented by Barrett, thus establishing an important link in the state's chain. Rucker has contended that Bell manipulated the election by working through Barrett to get corrupt election inspectors.

HENRY MAY BE TRIED AT THIS TERM OF COURT

(Columbus Man) Indicted for Murder in First Degree by Bartholomew County Grand Jury.

Relative to the case of James Henry the Columbus Republican says:
James "Stub" Henry, who has been indicted by the grand jury on a charge of first degree murder, probably will be tried the latter part of October, during the last week of the present term of court.
Henry was taken from the jail to the court room this morning where he waived arraignment on the indictment and entered a plea of not guilty. He told the court he had no money to use in employing counsel and as he had been in consultation with Cox & Phillips about the case the court appointed these attorneys to represent him at the murder trial. Judge Wickens suggested that if it was agreeable to the state and defense he would set the case for trial the last week of the term. James F. Cox would not agree to that date until he found out whether or not he could have another case changed in which he is interested. If this change can be made it seems probable that the Henry case will be tried during the present term.

The indictment against Henry came as a result of the fact that he shot Tom Ohaver after he went home at midnight and found Ohaver and Mrs. Henry together. There was a belief in some quarters that the unwritten law would result in the grand jury freeing Henry or else returning an indictment for manslaughter but first degree murder is the charge.
If the Henry case is tried this term it will mean two murder trials during the same term of court, something decidedly out of the ordinary here. The second degree murder charge against George O. Winfrey, who is accused of killing Robert Sample, at Grammer, last May, is set for trial next Monday.

NEW LAUNDRY BUILDING IS NEARING COMPLETION

Domestic Steam Laundry will Soon Occupy its Modern Quarters on West Second Street.

The new building that is being erected on West Second street by the Domestic Steam Laundry is nearing completion and the proprietors, Norman Barkman and B. W. Cunningham, ham, expect to be able to move the machinery during the first week in October. The new structure is made of concrete and is one of the finest laundry buildings in southern Indiana. Plenty of room will be afforded for the steadily growing business of this enterprising concern and the room will be well ventilated and lighted.

The concern recently purchased considerable new machinery which was installed at their present plant on South Chestnut street but besides this other new and modern equipment will be used in the new building. When the plant is in running order it will be possible to turn out better work more promptly. During the last few years the local laundry has built up a profitable business throughout this and adjoining counties and will soon be better enabled to expand their business than ever before.

People with kidney ills want to be cured. When one suffers the tortures of an aching back, relief is eagerly sought for. There are many remedies today that relieve, but do not cure. Doan's Kidney Pills have brought lasting results to thousands. Here is Seymour evidence of their merit.

Mrs. D. B. Henderson, 523 Indianapolis Ave., Seymour, says: "I always recommend Doan's Kidney Pills, when I have the opportunity. I had lameness in the small of my back and my kidneys caused me a great deal of annoyance. I also had pains in my head. Seeing Doan's Kidney Pills advertised, I got a supply. It required only four boxes to remove the trouble." (Statement given April 16, 1910.)
AFTER ALAPSE OF OVER TWO YEARS, Mrs. Henderson added: "I gladly confirm my former endorsement of Doan's Kidney Pills. I have never had the least symptom of my former trouble since this medicine cured me."

Price 50c at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Henderson has twice publicly recommended. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

NEW POSTOFFICE BUILDING.

Announcement that bids are to be received for the construction of the new postoffice building here is welcomed news by Seymour people. There is a vast amount of "red tape" in connection with erecting a government building, yet it appears now that the preliminaries have been about completed and that actual work on the structure will begin shortly. Of course, the contract may not be awarded for a short time, but the indications are very encouraging that the local postoffice will occupy its new quarters some time during the next year.

The erection of such a postoffice building as the one here is to be, means much for the city. It is an indication that Seymour is being recognized as a city of importance in southern Indiana and as such is entitled to accommodations such as are given by the government. The building will greatly improve the appearance of our city and it will be with pride that we can point to the new structure. So far as we have been able to learn, the building will be attractive in appearance and will be equipped with modern postoffice devices.

Seymour people are proud of their city. It is a growing city with a bright future. Her industries are the best to be found in Indiana, her business section is second to none in a city of this size in the entire state and her citizens are enthusiastic boosters for the entire community. Seymour is continuing her steady, substantial growth and the new government building is only another indication of her progress.

Out of Ammunition

Lack of ammunition has made important developments in the world's war. It has turned the tide of battles at critical moments. No manufacturer seeking to market goods at a fair profit has advertising ammunition to waste. He cannot afford to cultivate dry spots. It pays him best which he makes all his shots hit through newspaper advertising. Then and then only his money works without waste. Manufacturers are invited to send to the Bureau of Advertising, American Newspaper Publishers Association, World Building, New York, for the booklet "The Newspapers."

HAYS SAID REPUBLICAN PARTY IS PARTY OF FUTURE

Republican State Chairman Makes a Stirring Address at Columbia Club Rally.

By United Press.

Indianapolis, September 22.—Declaring the Republican party is the party of the future and predicting that it will win the next election, Will H. Hays, Republican state chairman of Indiana, today made a stirring appeal to all the Republicans to become party workers. Hays addressed the Columbia Club rally at the state fair grounds.

The only national issue on which Hays touched was the tariff. He said Republicans need go no further. He promised protection and prosperity if the Republicans get back into power. "Blazoned above all the other purposes will be the four issues:

"Protection and Prosperity, Prosperity and Protection."

"Meet the Boat."

HOG CHOLERA HAS CAUSED BIG LOSS

County Agent Cobb Says Situation in This County Demands Heroic Measures.

NEW CASES ARE REPORTED

Complications Arise by Introduction of Disease in the Town Limits of Brownstown.

(By A. D. Cobb, County Agriculture Agent.)

As the result of someone's negligence, Jackson county is at the present time threatened with a general outbreak of hog cholera which may mean the loss of thousands of dollars to the farmers of the county. Had the man on whose farm the disease first appeared last spring taken the proper precautions, in quarantining his farm, notifying his neighbors of his trouble, and cleaning up his place, farmers of Grassy Fork township would not have lost between $5,000 and $6,000 worth of hogs during the last four months.

It will take heroic measures, and twelve or eighteen months of unceasing labor to rid the county of the disease, and if this work is not taken up at once, it may be several years before hog growing will again be a profitable business. It is not a case where individual effort will accomplish much, but it is a time when every farmer in the affected neighborhood must lend his efforts to co-operate in a general movement to stamp out the disease.

The situation has become more complicated in the last few days by the introduction of the disease within the city limits of Brownstown, a jump of several miles from the main infected region. Attracted by cheap prices offered on hogs by farmers in Grassy Fork township, several who thought to lay in a supply of winter meat, purchased hogs, not knowing that they came from a cholera infected region. Five cases of cholera have been reported to the county agent's office since Friday, and all can be traced to this source.

The sale or hogs coming from an infected neighborhood, is unlawful except under the following regulations, as stated in the State Law. (H. 193 Appropriated March 7, 1913) which is as follows:

"It shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation to drive upon any highway or transport in any vehicle or railroad car any swine having an infectious disease or that have died of disease, except under rules or regulations of (the) state veterinarian, but the person, firm or co-operation owning or controlling any swine so affected may at the beginning of the outbreak of the disease separate all swine that show no symptoms of the disease and market the same as swine that are exposed to disease, for immediate slaughter only. Provided, that said hogs so separated from diseased herds shall not be driven along or upon any public highway but shall be transported to market by wagon or vehicle only, and that such vehicle in which hogs so infected are transported shall be cleaned and disinfected immediately at the stock yard pens or other places where unloaded, and all litter from such wagons shall be burned by the person, firm or corporation receiving the same. It shall also be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation to clean or cause to be cleaned any vehicle in which any hogs are transported of any litter along and upon the public highway."

The present outbreak differs from others in that the disease is in its chronic form, and the symptoms are not alike in all cases. Most of the animals linger along for several weeks before dying. Post mortems have showed that the internal symptoms are different, and in some cases only one organ may be affected while in others characteristic cholera lesions are present all through the system. The farmer's judgment should not be relied upon to diagnose the trouble but someone should be immediately sent for who has had experience with the disease.

The only great difficulty that presents itself at this time is the fact that local farmers have had little or no experience with the use of hog cholera serum for vaccination. Until they become convinced that this is absolutely the only absolute means of prevention, it will be hard to control the disease. There is no cure for the disease. The United States Government has a standing offer of $100,000 for anyone who will produce an absolute cure. There are plenty of fake remedies on the market, some of which have a good tonic effect on the hogs, but will neither cure or prevent the cholera.

From available statistics from the State Experiment Station, in the case of several thousand hogs in unaffected herds treated with serum last year, 93 per cent. of them lived. In a like number, where the disease was present in the herd 92 per cent. of the animals were saved. Good serum properly given to hogs carefully cared for will absolutely prevent hog cholera.

There are also certain hygienic preventive measures that can be carried out, that will often prove valuable protection against an outbreak of the disease.

Strong, healthy hogs possess a normal slight degree of resistance to cholera, and proper methods of feeding and housing the animals go far towards fostering this natural resistance. Filthy crowded quarters, poor feeding, and exposure are regarded as secondary factors in the spread of cholera. Hog houses should have plenty of light, and should be kept good and clean. Filth and mud should not be allowed to accumulate.

Free use should be made of disinfectants, both in the sheds and yards. Whitewash, lime, chloride of lime and the various stock disinfectants are all good. Hog lots should be frequently plowed up and sowed in some forage crop.

Great care should be taken to prevent the spread of the disease by birds, stray dogs, or persons passing from an infected field to the quarters of other animals. Pigeons, sparrows, crows and buzzards often carry the disease from the one farm to another.

It is a known fact that the germs of the disease will live for several years in the ground, or in dark, damp sheds, old straw piles, or dark woods. After an outbreak of the disease all such places should be thoroughly cleaned up and disinfected.

When cholera breaks out in a herd the sick hogs should be separated from the rest. However it is not desirable to divide them into small bunches in different parts of the farm, as this increases the danger of spreading the infection over larger areas, and increases the labor of caring for the hogs. Fatally sick hogs should be killed at once. All dead hogs should be burned at once.

Literature and other information regarding the control of the disease can be secured at the county agent's office, and the county agent himself is ready to assist in diagnosis work, and in cleaning up infection, and those services are free of all charge.

SALISBURY FAMILY BOOKED BY CO-OPERATIVE COMPANY

Well Known Musical Organization is Secured by Mrs. E. M. Eagleston for Season of 1915-16.

Mrs. E. M. Eagleston, manager of the Co-operative Theatrical Booking Association, has secured the well known Salisbury Family, who have been declared the world's most famous musical family, for the season of 1915-16, and will arrange all of their bookings. Mrs. Eagleston says that the Salisburys will appear here in a two-day engagement, October 18 and 19. The Salisbury family hails from Valparaiso, Indiana, and consists of father and mother, four sons and six daughters, every one of whom is a finished musician, and appears in the program. They are a group of artists unique not only in the fact that they are all members of the family, but in the diversity, breadth and quality of their repertoire.

Mr. Salisbury, business manager of the family, came to this city yesterday from Valparaiso to arrange for a contract with the co-operative company, which speaks well for the standing of the local people among the higher class entertainers. Mrs. Eagleston will probably book the Salisburys for chautauqua dates next summer.

RESOLUTIONS ASK RETURN OF PASTOR

Fourth Quarterly Conference of M.

E. Church Commends the Revs.

J. H. Carnes and F. A. Steele.

ANNUAL REPORTS ARE FILED

Statements Show that Membership has Grown and that Church is in Good Financial Condition.

That the First M. E. church has enjoyed a substantial growth during the year and is in a splendid financial condition, was shown by the annual reports read at the fourth quarterly conference Tuesday night. The work for the conference year has been practically closed up so that all departments were able to file statements at the last business session before conference. Next Sunday will mark the end of the conference year and Rev. J. H. Carnes, the pastor, will leave Tuesday for Indianapolis to attend the sessions to be held at Roberts Park M. E. church.

At the quarterly conference of the local church Tuesday night resolutions were presented by J. W. Conner, commending the work that has been done here by the Rev. Mr. Carnes, as pastor and also that of the Rev. Festus A. Steele, as district superintendent. The resolutions called upon the Indiana Conference to return both the Rev. Mr. Carnes as pastor, and the Rev. Mr. Steele as superintendent of the district. The resolutions were enthusiastically endorsed by unanimous vote of the conference.

The Rev. Mr. Steele presided at the meeting and spoke of what has been done in the district and the advancement made in all the churches. The Rev. Mr. Carnes also spoke, stating that he was pleased with the results of the year's work and that greater progress was possible next year. It is generally expected that both ministers will be returned here by the Indiana Conference.

J. H. Matlock, who was a candidate for lay delegate from the Seymour district to the General Conference to be held in New York state in 1916, filed his resignation owing to his illness. Local Methodists who were active in behalf of Mr. Matlock's candidacy for his position of honor felt assured that he would be elected and regretted that his illness prevented his name from being presented. It is known that he would have received the undivided support of a large number of churches and his election was practically conceded.

The Rev. Mr. Carnes is closing his first year as pastor of the local church and during that time he has made many warm friends not only in his congregation but outside of the church as well. He is an able minister and his sermons are always interesting and full of wholesome advice.

The Rev. Mr. Steele has served several years as superintendent of the Seymour district and under his direction the work of all the churches in his district have grown and prospered. While serving in that position he has manifested marked executive ability which has been a benefit to the entire district.

He serves as a member of the cabinet at the conference, a position which carries much influence.

One of the most important things that has been done this year in the local congregation is the plan to purchase and install a new pipe organ. The arrangements are being made for raising the necessary funds and it is thought the organ will be installed within the next few months. The matter will be taken up as soon as the pastor returns from the annual conference.

first, middle or last, nor whether the exposition period which takes the place of the morning sermon will come last or first. The result of this plan has been that the Logansport church is getting its people into both the Sunday School and the church service. The children and the parents are there together and all are learning that each part of the service fills a need in their life.

The address was very highly commended by those who heard it both for its practical suggestions and for its inspirational features.

In addition to the address several musical numbers of more than ordinary merit were given. Mr. Don A. Bollinger gave the opening organ voluntary after which prayer was offered by Rev. J. F. Severinghaus. A vocal solo was given by Herman G. Stratton and a violin solo by Miss Lillian Griffiths with Miss Loreta Bollinger as accompanist. After the address a duet was rendered by Miss Mary Schmidt and Mrs. T. R. Carter with organ accompaniment by Miss Anna Massman, who closed the program with an organ postlude.

Refreshments were served by the committee for the evening and an hour was spent following the address socially in the Sunday School room. During this hour Sunday School work was talked over informally by various groups.

SOCIAL EVENTS.

AUCTIONEERS PICNIC.

The Auctioneers, a card club, spent the day yesterday at Peter's Cabin, north of the city. The members were taken to the cabin in automobiles during the morning and at noon a course dinner was served. A lunch was also served in the evening. This was one of the most enjoyable outings the members of this club have had during the summer.

PRISCILLA CLUB.

The members of the Priscilla Club were very pleasantly entertained this afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. T. Jones, on North Chestnut street. The afternoon was spent with needlework and was very delightful.

DINNER PARTY.

Mrs. J. B. Shepard, Mrs. D. A. Baird and Mrs. Walter Johnston went to Brownstown this morning, where they will be honor guests at a dinner party given by Mrs. R. H. Cribb.

LOYAL DEVOIR SOCIETY.

The Loyal Devoir Society of the Christian church was entertained Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. F. W. Wesner, North Ewing street, at a regular meeting of the society. Dainty refreshments were served.

REBEKAHS.

The September social committee of Seymour Rebekah lodge will entertain the members Thursday evening with a program and refreshments after the regular business session of the order.

erection of the building. This appropriation was allowed, but was not made available for some time. However, on July 29, 1910, the government received proposals for sites for the new building and quite a number were submitted.

Almost a year lapsed before the next step was taken, but on June 20, 1911, the propositions offered by the Pfaffenberger heirs and J. A. Willey on East Third street, were accepted and the site was purchased at a cost of $12,000. Several months after that time E. A. Remy who was postmaster and custodian of the site, was notified that the architects were ready to prepare plans for the new building and E. B. Douglass, who was city engineer, was instructed to send samples of the soil so that the required depth of the foundation could be accurately determined. The buildings on the site were also ordered removed after the soil tests were made.

This indicated that the government was about ready to receive bids for the building but the end of the "red tape" procedure had not yet been reached. Last summer Congressman Dixon informed the business men here through Postmaster Swope, that the plans for the building called for brick with stone trimmings and that he believed an additional appropriation for an entire stone building could be secured if the citizens desired it. A petition was then circulated among the business men, asking that stone be used in the structure.

The receipt of this petition again delayed matters for after the congress had voted favorably on the additional appropriation of $15,000 it was necessary to alter the first plans. The additional appropriation was granted last year.

Last winter congress voted sufficient funds to begin the building and it was understood then that the funds would be available after the July 1, the beginning of the fiscal year. The original appropriation was for $60,000 but $12,000 of that was used for the lot, leaving a balance of $48,000. This, with the additional funds voted, $15,000 will be used for the building which will cost in the neighborhood of $63,000.

It is known that the new building in Seymour will be constructed along the same plans that have been adopted in other cities. In erecting the building the future needs as well as the present ones, will be kept in mind and will be large enough to accommodate the business here for years to come. It is thought that some new equipment will be installed as soon as the building is completed so that all incoming and outgoing mail can be dispatched with promptness.

The local postoffice is one of growing importance in southern Indiana. Thousands of pounds of mail are handled by the local force each week and besides that for local distribution, there is a large amount of transfer mail.

The postoffice has occupied the room in the Masonic building since that structure was completed, moving there from the corner of Chestnut street and St. Louis avenue, where Hoover's Furniture Store is now located.

Miss Roseberry has moved her dressmaking establishment to 15½ East Second St. (over Richard's Clothing store) and will be ready for business Sept. 20, with all the latest fall styles. s22d

DOCUMENTS ARE MADE PUBLIC

Archibald Papers Reveal German Strike Plans.

THOSE "IDIOTIC YANKEES"

Von Papen Pays His Respects to Americans in Letter—Thirty-Four Documents in All Taken From Newspaper Man.

London, Sept. 22.—The papers upon which was based the request of the United States government for the recall of Dr. Dumba, the Austrian ambassador at Washington and taken from James F. J. Archibald, the American newspaper correspondent, have been made public in part.

The dossier as made public in the house of commons comprises twenty-one pages, closely printed. Included in it are the letters from Ambassador Dumba to Baron Burian, the Austro-Hungarian minister of foreign affairs, in which the ambassador took "this rare and safe opportunity of warmly recommending" to the Austrian foreign office the proposals made by "the chief editor of the local influential paper, the Szabadkas, for bringing about strikes in the Bethlehem and middle western plants which are making munitions for the allies, and the lengthy aide memoire handed by the Szabadkas, chief editor to Dr. von Nuber, consul general at New York, in which these proposals are outlined in considerable detail and with much emphasis placed on the necessity of money if they are to be successfully carried out.

There were thirty-four documents in all. Of these three are withheld "for obvious reasons," except for a small extract from one of them. The three thus withheld are No. 2, written by Captain von Papen, the military attaché of the German embassy at Washington, and addressed to the chief of the German general staff at Berlin; No. 6 written by Dr. von Nuber, the Austro-Hungarian consul general in New York, to the ministry of foreign affairs at Vienna, and No. 7, sent by Captain von Papen to the chief of the German general staff at Berlin.

Besides these three, eighteen others of the thirty-four documents numbered 17 to 34 inclusive, are not included in the printed dossier, the explanation

True Secret of Keeping Youthful Looking

(The Beauty Seeker.)

"The real secret of keeping young-looking and beautiful," says a well-known hygienist, "is to keep the liver and bowels normally active. Without these regularities, no good products can be made in the system, polluting the blood and lodging in various organs, tissues, joints. One becomes flabby, obese, nervous, mentally sluggish, dull-eyed, wrinkled and sallow of face.

"But to get liver and bowels working as they ought, without producing evil after-effects, has been the problem. Fortunately, there is a prescription of unquestioned merit, which may now be had in convenient tablet form. Its value is due largely to an ingredient derived from the humble May apple, or its root, which has been called 'vegetable calomel' because of its effectiveness—though of course it is not to be classed with the real calomel of mercurial origin. There is no habit-forming constituent in 'santal' tablets—that's the name—and their use is not followed by weakness or exhaustion. On the contrary, these harmless vegetable tablets tend to impart tone and elasticity to the relaxed intestinal wall. Santal tablets, which may be procured from any druggist—a dime's worth will do—will prove a revelation to any constipated, liver-troubled person."

Chief Cause of Pimples, Blisters, Sallow Skin

(Messenger of Health.)

Unightly eruptions, pimples, boils, blotches, sallow, muddy skin, are due to a sluggish liver, a constipated bowel—and a polluted blood stream as a consequence. How foolish in such cases to resort to harsh cathartics, which can never have natural, permanent results. If more people only knew it, there is a very simple remedy, to be found in any drug store, which is as effective as it is harmless and quick acting. It is an old formula, long recognized by the medical profession, which has been put in tablet form, and at such small cost, that one may now be deprived of its wonderful benefits. "Santal tablets"—that's the name—are entirely vegetable and there is no habit-forming ingredient. You need only get about a dime's worth, and swallow one at bedtime, and the next morning, else quite so good for the purpose. The action in the morning is so easy, so soothing, and instead of a weakening after-effect, you feel truly refreshed and invigorated. Santal tablets are not only the finest remedy known for constipation and torpid liver, but offer the sanest, most sensible treatment for complexion difficulties of the character mentioned.

Great Demand for New Constipation Remedy

They say that the advent of the "santal" tablet as a vegetable substitute for calomel has resulted in an extraordinary demand for this remarkable product. It seems to have made a hit particularly with those afflicted with chronic constipation, who were quick to recognize its advantages over calomel and the usual laxatives.

Santal tablets, aside from their efficacy, doubtless owe their success largely to a tendency to aid in bringing about natural functioning—instead of encouraging the "cathartic habit." Also, instead of injuring the membranous lining of the organs involved, they exert a healing influence. Instead of weakening, they add tone to the intestinal wall. And they work so easily and gently, they are of course preferred on this account to the violently acting purgatives. Their inexpressiveness is another reason for the popularity of santal tablets. One need procure only a dime's worth, and take one tablet upon retiring, to be convinced that the ideal remedy for constipation, torpid liver, and their many evil consequences, has finally been found.—Druggists Review.

being given that these are "of insufficient interest to warrant publication."

In a letter to Archibald just prior to his departure, Ambassador von Bernstorff expresses his pleasure at hearing that the war correspondent is to return to Germany and Austria, "after having promoted our interests out here in such a zealous and successful manner."

Letters written by Captain von Papen, the German military attaché at Washington, report of the theft of Dr. Albert's papers, which later were published, with the Bridgeport projectile works strike plan, the purchase of phenol from the Edison company and of the Wright aeroplane patents, and suggests the possibility of "dumping" on the Norwegian government the total "which is lying here useless."

Captain von Papen says his respects to "these idiotic Yankees" in a letter to his wife, in which he says that "it seems quite likely that we shall meet again soon" and that "the sinking of the Adriatic may well be the last straw," but expressing the hope that the danger will blow over. He refers to the German victories on the eastern front and adds, "I always say to these idiotic Yankees they better hold their tongues. It's better to look at all this heroism full of admiration. My friends in the army are quite different in this way."

MEN FIGHT DUEL TO DEATH

Killed in Battle in Darkened Room as Result of Quarrel.

Biloxi, Miss., Sept. 22.—As a sequel to a quarrel, George Sarvis and Rufus Reeves, wealthy turpentine manufacturers, each armed himself and by agreement entered a darkened room, where they fought a duel to the death, both being killed. Witnesses say the men never raised their voices above a whisper during the quarrel, which occurred the day previous. Each borrowed a revolver and at Sarvis' house arranged details of the duel.

An alarm clock was set for 4 o'clock and when the bell rang, each began firing. Sarvis was still alive when friends entered the duel chamber. His last words were "It's our private affair."

BRITAIN'S BIG WAR BUDGET

Calls For Most Far Reaching Taxes in History of Country.

London, Sept. 22.—The greatest war budget in the world's history was introduced in the house of commons by Reginald McKenna, chancellor of the exchequer, as another step toward financing the war, which is now costing Great Britain nearly $25,000,000 daily.

New military requirements and changed methods of warfare have created over night additional expenditure which had not been reckoned with, necessitating in this budget, the third since the outbreak of hostilities, the most drastic and far-reaching taxes in the history of the country.

Hereafter automobiles, bicycles, moving picture films, clocks, watches, musical instruments, plate glass and hats will pay a tax of 33 1/3 per cent. ad valorem.

The principal blow fell on incomes, the existing tax on incomes not only being jumped 40 per cent, but its scope widened, so as to catch even working-men earning as little as $14 weekly. The very wealthy must contribute to the government more than one-third of their revenue.

Miners Trapped in Mine.

Nuneaton, England, Sept. 22.—Seventeen miners lost their lives as a result of a fire in the Exhall colliery. About 250 workers were trapped below the surface when the cage used to bring them up was destroyed by the flames. The greater part of them, however, were rescued through an emergency shaft.

Ships Run Afoul Each Other.

New York, Sept. 22.—The Wilson line steamer Bassano, outward bound for Hull and the liner Verdi, outward bound for Rio Janeiro, fouled each other off quarantine. Two plates of the Verdi appear to have been dented amidship. No apparent damage was done to the Bassano.

VON HINDENBURG'S TRAP NOW SET

Bottles Up Czar's Vilna Army of Half Million.

RUSSIAN POSITION CRITICAL

Berlin Reports Vilna-Lida-Baronowitsch Railroad Has Been Cut and Is in German Hands—Heavy Artillery Fighting in West.

London, Sept. 22.—The location of the Russian Vilna army, estimated variously from 300,000 to a half million men, is shrouded in mystery.

Berlin claims that the right wing of General von Eichorn's army has reached the region east of Lida, southeast of Novo Gurdok. This means that the last line of retreat left the Russians, the Vilna-Lida-Baronowitsch railroad, has been cut and is in German hands.

Field Marshal von Hindenburg closed the ring, whose formation began with the capture of the heart of western Russia's railway system, Vilna.

Hindenburg's trap is set. There is every justification, however, for the question: Are the Russians caught in it, or did they escape in the nick of time? The Russian retreat from Vilna began on Sept. 18. Did these five days which have since elapsed and in the course of which the von Eichorn wing tried desperately to gain Lida, succeeding only slowly, suffice for the czar to repeat his cousin's oft repeated master stroke of extricating the main forces in the eleventh hour, leaving only the rear guard behind to hamper the pursuit?

This is the all-absorbing question discussed by Europe's military observers, and they agree that the next few days, perhaps the next twenty-four hours, will furnish the answer.

The official communique, besides reporting the continuance of the artillery duels which have been raging for weeks at certain points of the western front tells of the frustration of a German attempt at a heavy artillery bombardment of the cities of Luneville and Nancy. The Germans have been for weeks past preparing concrete works near Hampon, for the installation of heavy long range pieces, capable of reaching the regions of these two important cities. The French, according to the communique, managed to get the range of these works and "our efficient and destructive fire enabled us to frustrate the German attempt."

A bombardment of the railway junction and the yards at Bonsor, east of Morhenze, by nineteen French aeroplanes also is reported. A hundred bombs were dropped and much damage was done.

BRITISH TRANSPORT SUNK

Torpedoed by German Submarine Off the Island of Crete.

Berlin, by wireless to Sayville, Sept. 22.—The following report was given out by the Overseas News Agency: "A special telegram to the Frankfurt Zeitung says that a German submarine torpedoed a 15,000-ton British transport off the island of Crete, in the Mediterranean. The ship was going from Egypt to the Gallipoli peninsula."

There have been a number of unconfirmed reports of the sinking of British transports. On Sept. 9, a Bremen newspaper stated that the British steamer Southland serving as a transport, had been torpedoed in Turkish waters. The gross tonnage of the Southland is 12,017, or considerably smaller than the transport now said to have been sunk.

Great Britain has a number of vessels of 15,000 tons or more in the transport service.

GERMAN DYNAMITE SHIP

Must Get Out of New York Harbor or Unload Explosive.

Washington, Sept. 22.—Coast guard officials have been ordered by Secretary McAdoo to see that the German steamship Magdeburg gets out of New York harbor or disposes of 300 tons of dynamite it has aboard. The vessel has been at New York ever since the European war began and the war and treasury departments have concluded its presence is a menace.

As it can not leave without running the gauntlet of British cruisers off the coast, officials here think the dynamite will be sold.

Erb May Recover.

Deal, N. J., Sept. 22.—Newman Erb has not yet shown any symptoms that the bichloride of mercury which he took several days ago in mistake for a headache remedy, will result seriously. There is still a chance that the poison will manifest some ill effect, but in a few hours more all danger will be passed.

Fire Destroys Railroad Station.

Roachdale, Ind., Sept. 22.—The union station for the Monon and the C. H. & D. railway at this place was destroyed by fire. The fire originated in the Monon freight office and the building was a mass of flames when the alarm was given.

DARIO RESTA

Daring Automobile Driver Makes New Record For Short Distance.

New York, Sept. 22.—Resta does ten miles in 5 minutes 23 4/5 seconds at opening of new Sheephead Bay speedway, an average of 108 miles an hour.

MME. DUMBA TO SAIL SEPT. 28

Dr. Dumba May Not Return to Vienna at That Time.

Washington, Sept. 22.—The Austro-Hungarian embassy has asked the state department to use its good offices to secure a safe conduct from the allies for Mme Dumba, wife of the Austro-Hungarian ambassador, whose recall was demanded by the United States in a note dispatched to Vienna some days ago.

Mme. Dumba plans to sail from New York on the steamer Rotterdam on Sept. 28. Whether she will be accompanied by Dr. Dumba depends on future events. State department officials expressed surprise on the receipt of the application from the Austro-Hungarian embassy requesting a safe-conduct for Mme Dumba without making any reference to the ambassador himself.

NEW CONTROLLED TORPEDOE

John Hays Hammond, Jr., Perfects New Invention.

Washington, Sept. 22.—John Hays Hammond Jr., inventor of the wireless-controlled torpedo, fired from shore and recommended by army officials for purchase by the government, discussed with Secretary Daniels a plan for a similar device for torpedoes fired from submarines.

Many torpedoes fired by submarines or destroyers never reach their mark. Hammond told Secretary Daniels he believed he had found a means by which the deadly missiles would be guided to their mark unerringly.

Train Runs Down Child.

Butler, Ind., Sept. 22.—The two-year-old son of Frederick Voight, a sailor aboard the battleship Connecticut, was struck by a Lake Shore mail train at a crossing near Butler and was killed instantly.

The BALL of FIRE

by GEORGE RANDOLPH CHESTER and LILLIAN CHESTER

ILLUSTRATED by C.D. RHODES

CHAPTER XIII.

Gail Dodges the Spotlight.

Immediately after Gail had reached home from the accident in the subway, and had been put to bed and given tea, and had repeatedly assured the doctor there was nothing the matter with her, they brought, at her urgent request, copies of the "extras," which were already being yelled from every street corner and down every quiet residence block.

The accounts were, in the main, more or less accurate, barring the fact that they started with the assumption that there had been one hundred in Allison's party, all killed. Later issues, however, regrettably reduced the number of dead to forty, six, and finally none, at which point they became more or less coherent, and gave an exact list of the people who were there, the cause of the accident, and a most appreciatively accentuated history of the heroic work of the men. Although she regretted that her picture had by this time crept into the public prints, grouped with the murders and defalcations of the day, she was able to overlook this personal discomfort as one of the minor penalties which civilization has paid for its progress, like electric light bugs and electric fan neuralgia, and the smell of gasoline.

In the meantime, the representatives of the gay and care-free and absolutely uncured metropolitan press, were by no means discouraged by the fact that they had not been able to secure much, except hectic imaginings from the exterior of the Sargent house. They were busy in every other possible direction, with the same commendable persistence which we observe in an ant to drag a grasshopper up and down a cornstalk on the way home.

Little Miss Piper of the Morning Planet, a somewhat withered and puckered little woman, who had sense enough to dress so as to excite nothing but pity, quietly slipped on her ugly little bonnet with the funny ribbon bow in the back, and hurried out to the magnificent residence of Mrs. Phyllis Worthmore, who loathed publicity and had photographs taken once a month for the purpose.

The result of that light-hearted and light-headed interview, in which Mrs. Phyllis Worthmore, by special request, was not quoted, suddenly sprang on the startled eyes of Gail, when she leaped through the Sunday Morning Planet at eight o'clock next morning. An entire page, embellished in the center with a beautifully printed photograph, was devoted to the sensational beauty from the middle West! Around her were grouped nine smaller photographs: Allison, Dick Rodley, Willis Cunningham, Houston Van Ploon, Rev. Smith Boyd, a sorrow youth who had danced with her three times, a count who had said "How do you do?" and sailed for Europe, and two men whom she had never met. All these crack eligibles were classified under the general head of "Slaves to Her Witching Smile," and a big, boxed-in list was given, in extremely black-faced type, stating, in dollars and cents, the exact value in the matrimonial market of each slave; and the lively genius who had put together this symposium, by a toweringly happy thought conceived in the very height of the rush hours, totaled the whole, and gave it as the commercial worth of Gail's beauty and charm. It ran into thirteen figures, including the dollar mark and the two ciphers for cents.

When Lucile Teasdale and Arly Fosland arrived at Jim Sargent's house at ten o'clock, and had been let in at the side entrance, they found Gail dabbing her eyes with a powder puff, taken from a little black traveling bag which stood open at her side. Arlene was a second later than Lucile in clasping Gail in her arms, because she had to lift a traveling veil. The two girls expressed their condolence and their horror of the outrage, and volubly poured out more sympathy; then they sat down and shrieked with laughter.

"It's too awful for words!" gasped Lucile. "But it is funny, too."

Gail's chin quivered. "There should be a law against such things," she broken-heartedly returned, in a voice which wavered and halted with the echoes of recent sobs.

"I'll put the Planet out of business!" stormed Jim Sargent, stalking up and down the library, with his fists clenched and his face purple. "I'll bankrupt them!" and he paused, as he passed, to reassuringly pat the shoulder of poor Aunt Grace, who sat perfectly numb holding one thumb until the bone ached.

"The press is the palladium of our national liberty, Uncle Jim," drawled the soothing voice of Ted.

"You can't do a thing about it," counseled Gerald Fosland, a stiff-looking gentleman who never made a mistake of speech, or manner, or attire.

"Shucks, Gail!" suddenly remembered Lucile. "The Big Faulkner reception is this week, and your gown was to be so stunning. Don't go home!"

Mrs. Helen Davies cast on her feather-brained daughter a glance of severe reproof.

"Have you no sense of propriety, Lucile?" she warned. "Gail, very naturally, cannot remain here under the circumstances. It does great credit to her that, immediately upon realizing this horrible occurrence, she telegraphed to her mother, without consulting any of us, that she was returning."

"I just wanted to go home," said Gail, her chin quivering and her pretty throat tremulous with breath pent from sobbing.

"It'll blow over, Gail," argued Uncle Jim, in deep distress because she was going so soon. If she had only stopped long enough to pack up, they might have persuaded her to stay. "Just forget it, and have a good time."

"Jim," ordered the stern voice of Aunt Helen, "will you be kind enough to see if anyone is out in front?"

"Certainly," agreed Jim, wondering why his wife's sister was suddenly so severe with him.

"It's time to start," called Ted with practiced wisdom allowing ten minutes for good-bys, parting instructions and forgotten messages.

The adieu was said. Aunt Grace, clasping Gail in her arms, began to sob, out of a full heart and a general need for the exercise. Gerald Fosland took the hand of his wife and kissed it, in most gallant fashion.

"I shall miss you dreadfully, my dear," he stated.

"I shall be thinking of you," responded Arlene, adjusting her veil.

Mrs. Davies drew Arlene into the drawing room.

The Mere Instinct of Self-Preservation Drove Gail Forward.

"It was so sweet of you to agree to accompany Gail," she observed. "It would be useless to attempt to influence her now, but I look to you to bring her back in a week. Her prospects are really too brilliant to be interrupted by an unfortunate episode of this nature."

One could readily see that no deviation from his routine confronted Gerald Fosland this morning. He had had his plunge and his breakfast, his mail and his paper laid before him, and yet there was something ghastly about the feel of the house. It was as if someone were dead! Gerald Fosland made as radical a deviation from his daily life as he ever had done. He left his mail unopened, after a glance at the postmark; he left his paper unread; he picked up his hat and gloves and stick, and started to leave the room. As he passed the door leading to Arly's apartments, he hesitated, and put his hand on the knob. He glanced over his shoulder, as a guilty conscience made him imagine that a servant was coming in, then he gently turned the knob, and entered. A tiny vestibule, and then a little French-gray salon, and then a boudoir, all in delicate blue, and sweet with a faint, delicate, evasive fragrance which was like the passing of Arly. Something made him stand, for a moment, with a trace of feeling which came to awe. He did not notice, until afterwards, that he had tiptoed.

He went on to the dainty blue bedroom, and looked earnestly about it, then he went back to the boudoir and seated himself on the stiff chair in which he had, on rare occasions, sat and chatted with her. He remained there perhaps half an hour. Suddenly he arose, and called for his limousine, and drove to Teasdale's. They were out, he was told. They were at Mr. Sargent's, and he drove straight there. Somehow, he was glad that, since they were out, they had gone to Sargent's. He was most anxious to see Lucile.

"Just in time to join the mourners," Gerald, greeted Ted. "We're doing a very solemn lot of Galling."

"I'll join you with pleasure," agreed Gerald, feeling more at home and light of heart here than he had anywhere during the day. Lucile seemed particularly near to him. "Have you any intimation that Gail expects to return soon?"

"None at all," stated Aunt Helen, with a queer mixture of somberness and impatience. "She only writes about what a busy time they are having, and how delightfully eager her friends have been about her, and how popular Arly is, and such things as that."

"Arly is popular everywhere," stated Gerald, and Lucile looked at him wonderingly, turning her head very slowly towards him.

"What do you hear from Arly?" she inquired, holding up her hand as if to shield her eyes from the fire, and studying him curiously from that shadow.

"Much the same," he answered; "except that she mentions Gail's popularity instead of her own. She had her maid send her another trunkful of clothing, I believe, and he fell to gazing into the fireplace."

"I am very much disappointed in Arly," worried Aunt Helen. "I sent Arly specifically to bring Gail back in a week, and they have been gone nine days!"

"I'm glad they're having a good time," observed Jim Sargent. "She'll come back when she gets ready. The New York pull is something which hits you in the middle of the night, and makes you get up and pack."

"Yes, but the season will soon be over," worried Aunt Helen. "Gail's presence here at this time is so important that I do not see how she can neglect it. It may affect her entire future life. A second season is never so full of opportunities as the first one."

"Oh, nonsense," laughed Jim. "You're a fanatic on matchmaking, Helen. What you really mean is that Gail should make a choice out of the matrimonial market before it has all been picked over."

Lucile watched Gerald with intense interest. She could scarcely believe the startling idea which had popped into her head! Gerald's only apparent deviation from his normal attitude had consisted in abstractedly staring into the fire, instead of paying polite attention to everyone.

"You scare me," said Lucile, still watching Gerald. "I'm not going to leave Gail out there any longer. I'm going to have her back at once."

Gerald raised his head immediately, and smiled at her.

"Splendid," he approved. "Fact of the matter is, and he hesitated an instant, 'I'm becoming extremely lonesome.'"

Even Ted detected something in Gerald's tone and in his face.

"It's time you were waking up," he bluntly commented. "I should think you would be lonely without Arly."

"Yes, isn't it time," agreed Gerald, studying the matter carefully. "You know, both having plenty of leisure, there's never been any occasion for us to travel separately before, and, really, I miss her dreadfully."

"I think I'll have to get her for you, Gerald," promised Lucile, removing her hand from in front of her eyes, and smiling at him reassuringly. She could smile beautifully just now. The incredible thing she had thought she detected was positively true, and it made her excitedly happy! Gerald Fosland had been in love with his wife, and had never known it until now!

"If you can work that miracle, and bring Gail back with her, you'll spread sunshine all over the place," declared Jim Sargent. "It's been like a funeral here since she went home. You'd think Gail was the most important section of New York. Everybody's blue—Allison, Doctor Boyd; everybody who knew her inquires, with long faces, when she's coming back!"

"What do you propose?" inquired Mrs. Helen Davies, with a degree of interest which intimated that she was quite ready to take any part in the conspiracy.

"I have my little plan," laughed Lucile. "I'm going to send her an absolutely irresistible reminder of New York!"

HESPERIAN CASE TO COME UP AGAIN

U. S. Waiting For Proof That Ship Was Torpedoed.

Washington, Sept. 22.—It is admitted as possible that the case of the liner Hesperian might again become a factor in the submarine controversy with Germany in view of the late developments in that case.

The United States has not made any reply to the German note disclaiming responsibility for the sinking of the Hesperian, because no positive evidence had reached the state department supporting the theory that the liner was torpedoed.

It is noted, however, that the British government has officially declared that it has proof that the Hesperian was torpedoed. The British statement asserts that it has a piece of metal which fell on the deck of the Hesperian following the explosion and that this metal has been found to be a fragment of a torpedo.

This statement has not reached Washington officially, but it is presumed here that Ambassador Page will take notice of it and make application at the foreign office for the delivery to the United States of any evidence the government may have as to the causes of the sinking of the Hesperian. The ambassador's instructions are to transmit all obtainable evidence in the case for the information of this government. This statement by the British government is the first intimation that has reached here that any fragments of metal were preserved in the Hesperian case. The impression had prevailed here that the fragments referred to in the affidavits of the Hesperian's officers had been permitted to go down with the ship.

MURDER MYSTERY REVEALED

Firemen Discover Bodies of Actress and Man in Building.

Memphis, Tenn., Sept. 22.—Evidence of a double murder was revealed when the bodies of Mrs. Margaret Favar, an actress and a man partially identified as J. C. Crowell, believed to be a resident of Greenwood, Miss., were discovered in an apartment in the central residential district. The heads of both victims had been battered in with a hammer and the bodies slashed with a razor. The police have started a search for the slayer.

The crime was discovered according to the police, when firemen were summoned to quench a fire which apparently had been started to destroy evidence of the crime. The woman's body was partially burned.

Messages from the Greenwood (Miss.) police stated that Crowell was manager of a cotton oil mill there.

To the Business Men of Seymour

A young doctor, making a start in a small town, decided that to be prosperous he must look prosperous. He bought a new buggy and two good horses. Although he had only a few patients he always kept on the jump, attending to his patients' smallest needs. People began to notice this young doctor driving about town and they called him because he looked busy and prosperous. He got his start—a start that led to a comfortable practice.

Our town, like this doctor, must look prosperous to be prosperous.

Clean streets, attractive store windows, well-painted buildings and dwellings give the prosperous air. Well-painted buildings are greatest of these.

ATHINAI PASSENGERS RETURN

Abandoned Blazing Ship; Picked Up by Liner Tuscania.

New York, Sept. 22.—The Anchor line Tuscania, from Glasgow, docked with all the cabin and most of the steerage passengers of the Greek line steamship Athina, abandoned, ablaze from stem to stern, about six hundred miles east of Sandy Hook.

The Tuscania has a fire fighting outfit unequalled by any other British liner that is forced to dodge the perils of the German war zone, and the thirty-two Americans aboard the Athina, mostly missionaries and students bound for Robert College, Constantinople, fervently thanked Providence for sending the gallant Scots their way.

The Athina's passengers saved only their handbags. They were met at quarantine by an agent of the line and will be transferred to the steamship Patris, which postponed her sailing to take the shipwrecked passengers on their way to Greece.

TWO POINTS TO SETTLE ON LOAN

Anglo-French Deal May Be Soon Closed.

EXACT AMOUNT NOT SETTLED

Will Depend on Estimates of Amount Necessary to Maintain Foreign Exchange at a Safe Figure—Syndicate's Profit Million.

New York, Sept. 22.—Negotiations between the Anglo-French mission and American financiers have progressed so favorably that it was freely predicted that definite public announcement of the amount, the terms and the general conditions of the foreign loan which is to stabilize exchange will be made within the next seventy-two hours.

The amount of the loan practically has been agreed upon, according to American bankers, as well as the terms of the loan, its interest and the conversion privileges accompanying it. Both sides have agreed upon the principles and nothing remains but to apply them to no more than two points of difference.

No one would say what these points of difference were but it was thought that one of them might be the status of Russia in the transaction and the other the matter in which the credit is to be applied to the exchange situation.

The amount will be more than $600,000,000 and less than $800,000,000. Many have thought it will be $750,000,000, but the exact amount will depend upon the estimates of amounts necessary to maintain foreign exchange at a safe figure, according to the American financiers.

The period which the bonds are to run will be five years and the interest which the investor is to receive will be 5 per cent.

The commission, the underwriting syndicate is to receive for its services was put at one per cent, by an international banker. He could only say what he understood was to be the percentage. That would mean that the syndicate would have, in the case of $700,000,000 loan, a commission of $7,000,000, to divide among the bankers composing the syndicate. It was added that, supplementing this, the individual members will have the use of the money they may subscribe until it is called for by the syndicate managers.

The visit of M. Pierre Bark, Russian minister of finance, to M. Ribot, French minister of finance in Paris, followed by the announcement that M. Bark is to see Chancellor of the Exchequer McKenna in London today or Thursday, gave rise to the report that the participation of Russia in the loan cannot be settled until after the London meeting.

The second question upon which the slight difference still appears is the manner in which the credit is to be applied to the exchange situation. It has been the contention of the American financiers that just so much money shall be supplied periodically by them as will maintain foreign exchange at the safe figure, say around 4.82 in the case of pounds. It had been the contention of the visitors that a definite period of payment shall be determined in advance, and the installments made at those times irrespective of the exchange market.

FELT HAND IN HIS POCKET AND FOUND $5 MISSING

Gypsies Who were Chased Out of Seymour Tuesday, in Trouble at Columbus.

The band of Gypsies that was chased out of the city yesterday afternoon before they had a chance to begin their begging campaign, had visited Columbus. They were allowed to leave their wagons there and the following dispatch tells how they robbed one man of $5:

A highly-colored gypsy woman, bedecked with ribbons and calico, alighted from one of the five wagons of a caravan that was passing through Columbus, and went into the Pennsylvania watch house near the east entrance of the Second street river bridge. She asked Bush Cole, the flagman there, for a match. He had just been to the Pennsylvania pay car, and he remembered having three five-dollar bills in a pocket of his trousers.

He reached to a ledge above the door of his shanty to get a match and felt a hand in his pocket. Quick as a flash the woman was gone, and when he counted his money it was $5 short. Cole notified the police and they overtook the caravan.

A search showed the woman hidden under some bedding in one of the wagons. The $5 bill was found on her. She was about to be arrested when she declared that if she went to jail her children would go with her. Eight dirty little children hopped from the wagon and climbed into the waiting automobile. The police dumped out the children and the mother and came back to the city.

DIAMOND DUST.

Manager Riehl, of the Red Sox, is busy strengthening his team for the first game of the second series with Columbus Sunday. With Darringer out, and Wagner suffering a broken finger, at least two new men will be required. Crabbe, a fast catcher, and Larkin, an equally fast shortstop, of Louisville, have been secured and will be in the game Sunday. Crabbe caught the game for Austin Sunday and displayed considerable class, and Larkin is regarded as the fastest shortstop in Louisville.

Voys will probably pitch the game, and the rest of the lineup will remain intact, according to the present plan.

The Scottsburg team will return to Schroer Park Sunday for a second game with the Ottos. The local team will be considerably stronger than the one which played last Sunday. McCloskey, a new man, will be on second, and Rolla Darringer, late of the Red Sox, may be seen at short. The batteries will be the same as in the first game, and the local team is out to avenge the defeat handed them Sunday. The game will be called at 2:30.

Elmer Dugan, who has been performing at first for Columbus since the close of the Three "I" league, will not be in the lineup Sunday, as he has signed to play with the All Stars of Indianapolis, against the A. B. C's Sunday.

It is probable that a big league team may be seen in action at Schroer Park before the close of the season. The Indianapolis American Association team and the Cincinnati Reds will both begin a barnstorming trip soon, and the local management could doubtless secure a date with either team by opening negotiations at once. Last fall the Indianapolis Reds, champions of the new league, wrote for a date here, but the lack of a representative team made the offer out of the question. With this year's team, however, an interesting game could be given the big leaguers, and local fans are much interested in the proposition. The Cincinnati Reds at Schroer Park would crowd the stands, pasture and all, to capacity.

How about a city championship series between the Red Sox and the Ottos? The idea has been suggested, but it is doubtful if it could be arranged, as both teams have games already booked that will take them almost up to cold weather.

EIGHT HUNDRED MINNOWS SENT TO RESTOCK STREAMS

Another Big Shipment Was Made to the Power House Lake Near Scottsburg.

About eight hundred bass and catfish minnows were shipped here today from the Indianapolis fish hatchery and were placed in White River near Rockford. The shipment here is a part of the plan to restock the rivers and streams in this state with game fish.

About 800 minnows, bass and perch, were left at Columbus to be distributed in the streams near that city. Another shipment was also made to Scottsburg and the minnows will be placed in the lake at the power house. The fish are handled carefully and were lively when they were released from the cans in which they were carried.

NEWSY PARAGRAPHS.

Mrs. Louise Meyers, who has been sick for two weeks at her home on East Fifth street, is improving.

Word has been received from Indianapolis that the microscopic examination of the blood taken from the diseased limb of the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Barkman, of this city, promises that the disease is not so serious as at first predicted, unless something further develops.

Mrs. C. H. Hustedt received a message this morning from Cincinnati, stating that her niece, Mrs. Robert Meyer, had died there suddenly. Mrs. Meyer visited in Seymour a number of times and the news of her death comes as a shock to her relatives and friends here.

George H. Moore was called to Peeweedally, Ky. this morning on account of the serious illness of his father, R. B. Moore, who is in the Confederate Soldiers' home there. The message stated that Mr. Moore had undergone an operation and his condition was serious on account of his advanced age of seventy-eight years.

PECULIAR DISEASE IN WHEAT IS REPORTED

Experts Declare it is Due to Use of Infected Grain—Need for Careful Selection of Seed.

The botanical department of Purdue University is making a special study of the disease which has attacked wheat in this locality this year. The experts are attempting to find some method of control, and ask farmers to furnish any information they may be able to supply. The blight caused the wheat to be small and shrunk and instead of assuming the normal, golden brown, the ripening kernels were of a dull, grayish-brown color. The disease is being given attention by F. J. Pipal and G. N. Hoffer who have written an article concerning it.

County Agent A. D. Cobb reported to the department that the disease had appeared in this county and upon investigation found that it had done much damage in Orange, Washington and other counties. It is thought the disease is introduced by using infected grain. Careful grading of the seed is recommended as one of the best means to avoid the disease next year.

W. J. BRYAN SPENDS AN HOUR WITH PRESIDENT

Evades Inquiries of Newspaper Men to Learn Nature of the Conference.

By United Press. Washington, September 22.—Former Secretary W. J. Bryan spent nearly an hour with President Wilson at the White House today. He appeared in the best of humor and jokingly evaded attempt of newspaper men to learn the nature of the conference. "I don't want to discuss any question at this time for fear it might be connected with my talk to the president," the former secretary said.
